

Where History and Nature Abound

Nizamabad is the northwestern interior district of Telangana. Located 172 km from Hyderabad, it was the former capital of the Rashtrakutas and lies close to the Maharashtra border. It was formerly known as Induru after the Rashtrakuta King Indrudu. Nizamabad is a compact district with unusual sights to behold. The district boasts of over half a dozen temples, a picturesque Dargah, a couple of beautiful lakeside resorts, a dam and deep dark forests. The famous Qilla Ramalayam, is a temple built in a fort. It lies in the heart of Nizamabad and is a landmark by itself. Alisagar is a most popular weekend spot. The lush forest, a deer park a summer house, and boating on a lake make it an idyllic getaway. Ashok Sagar 7 km from Nizamabad alike Alisagar also has a rock garden. Dichpally Ramalayam, Banyan Tree, Armour Rock Formations and Pochampad Project are some of the places worth visiting.

Alisagar

Alisagar is the beautiful garden developed by Nizam of Hyderabad. The Garden spreads across 33 acres, bedecked with fountains and a colorful profusion of flowering plants, It also has a Deer Park and an enchanting Tree House. There is a small island nestled in middle of the Alisagar lake. This beautiful nature spot is situated about 10km from Nizamabad town and 2kms off from the Nizamabad-Basar route. Alisagar is being developed as an amusement and eco-tourism destination.

on the eastern side is the Maha Kali temple. A 100 metres to the north of the temple is a cave known as the Narahari Maluka. It is believed that Veda Vyas, the author of the epic 'Mahabharatha' meditated here. The presence of divinity overwhelms and the ancient lore enthralls. Basara today is a thriving temple town where devotees throng to perform "Akshara Abhyasam" for their children. A pilgrimage with children to Basara for "Akshara Puja" before commencing formal school education, is said to be auspicious for their academic success .
